

CHASTITY'S VISION

THE MISSION

"We honor the ancestors whose shoulders we stand on while uplifting future leaders."

MPJI was built on revolution. Elle Moxley's leadership laid the foundation of unapologetic truth-telling and survival for BLACK trans people. Chastity steps forward not to replace that legacy, but to carry it forward as part of one continuous story.

THE VISION

"Unity is community. Unity creates change."

Chastity's guiding principle is Unity in Community. She calls for breaking down divisions, like gatekeeping, respectability politics, and bias. They weaken the movement. Unity is not sameness; it is respect across difference so the community can stand stronger together.

THE FUTURE

"Investing in Trans futures is investing in the livelihood of the nation. When we survive, everyone survives."

Chastity imagines gatherings that feel like revivals and family reunions. Joy-filled spaces where resources are exchanged and futures are planned. Programs like Pride Ambassadors and an expanded We Cares initiative will extend MPJI's reach into overlooked communities, fueling housing, healthcare, education, and employment.

THE STRATEGY

"Being in unity while exuding harmony is how we move from survival to liberation."

Chastity's vision centers on bringing harmony. Balancing past and future, honoring what was built while boldly stepping into the next chapter. Harmony means creating spaces where people can show up whole, be seen, and know they belong.

THE CALL

"MPJI is going places, and we are taking our entire community with us!"

Chastity envisions MPJI as not only the leading trans organization in the country, but also one with global reach - louder, bolder, and unshakably revolutionary. Together, we will form something permanent, something indelible, something truly unerasable.